The most common ones are the four and five seater tables with drop down leaves. These tables can be treated to the clients spec on request. Some customers will also require a white board. We will include white board on the table on request, but it is up to the customer to buy the white board. It is also up to the customer to decide what kind of material to use for the table top and what legs to use. We can provide information on suppliers.Q: Did the US government collect the DNA of US citizens in a large-scale program? I've been reading the book The Immortalists, written by Ruth Gruber and I stumbled across this text: Gruber also pointed out that the Department of Justice had been secretly gathering DNA from individuals for a law-enforcement database and that "[t]he FBI has been doing this on a mass scale, collecting DNA of as many as 20,000 people from unsolved crimes each year." So, my question is: Is this true? Did the US government in the past collect the DNA of the American citizens? A: Yes, in some cases. Here's a review from the Australian press: The collection and retention of DNA on innocent people was conducted under the late Kevin Downing's supervision, but as the FBI's previous top lawyer, Downing was given access to files where he had personally conducted this, according to the complaint....
