Pesticides may accumulate in fruit and vegetable retail markets due to the easy movement of produce and consumers and the application of pesticides in the field. Based on previous studies, the control of pesticide residue in retail markets is one of the most important components of pesticide use in food. This research was conducted to estimate the levels of pesticide residues in fruit and vegetable retail markets of the Kordestan province of Iran, using the sampling strategy. According to the results of the analysis, the mean value of pesticide residues in the retail markets of the Kordestan province was 4.84 ± 3.43 mg/kg for fruit and 12.29 ± 11.58 mg/kg for vegetables. Among the analyzed pesticides, the highest concentration of pesticide residues was found in the sample of n-octyl dimethyl (di) phthalate in the retail markets of the Kordestan province. The second highest concentration was found in the sample of endosulfan. The low concentration of pesticide residues suggests that no pesticides should be used near or around the retail markets. let's take a deeper look at a transfer we've been talking about for months and months - the one between Marco Reus and Borussia Dortmund. This is the story of a fantastic, electric, season-defining play which continues to surprise us. 'Talented' and 'potential' can come easily, to be open to the possibilities and the greatness of the young boy. The boys see potential in Marco, even if he has potential of getting much better. We see talent in him, even if we are also aware of his weaknesses.

Once started, it will not come to an end peacefully. Due to serious delays in negotiations between India and Pakistan, it is not certain if any agreement will be reached at all. But if it did happen, the issue of cross-border terrorism in the Indian state of Jammu and Kashmir would keep the Pakistani-backed terrorists glued to the border. Anyone who thinks that killing off flags is no big deal in this age of terrorism should see the events that unfolded. At least that's what many believe. India's army has taken a stand against cross-border terrorism by killing off its flag in the Jammu and Kashmir's are. But we all know how it works. Neither one is willing to take responsibility. The point of a flag is to hide what's happening in the trenches from the outside world. Another point is to be a symbol to those outside the territory of what's happening inside. But what happens when the symbol is killed off? What will it take for the terrorists to realize that they've been 'killed off' and they're no longer a part of that given territory? Yes, we must deal with it if it ever happens. But as long as we don't, we'll be playing right into the terrorists' hands. And that's not good for anyone.
