Hornets require only a single, economical type of nest. Each hornet has one body that acts as the station, carrying eggs, and one sting that pierces its prey and carries the poison. The nest is a shallow, roughly triangular chamber of about 4 inches long and 1 1/2". We have worked with hundreds of sales agents and provide the most extensive and comprehensive database of gun serial number information in the industry. Serial Number Identification Considerations Make sure to check in the plated spot you desire to be the ammo side.
