

Roblox is an online game platform and game creation system developed by Roblox Corporation that allows users to program games and play games created by other users. Created by David Baszucki and Erik Cassel in 2004 and released in 2006, the platform hosts user-created games of multiple genres coded in the programming language Lua. For most of Roblox's history, it was relatively small, both as a platform and a company. Roblox began to grow rapidly in the second half of the 2010s, and this growth has been accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Roblox is free to play, with in-game purchases available through a virtual currency called Robux. As of August 2020, Roblox had over 164 million monthly active users, including more than half of all American children under 16. Although Roblox has received generally positive reviews from critics, it has faced criticism for its moderation, microtransactions, and exploitative practices directed toward children. Roblox has been increasing its revenue from a variety of sources, including application and skin design. In 2018, Roblox reportedly made $350 million in total revenue and has been doing so on an annual basis since 2016. According to various estimates, Roblox's 2018 revenues ranged from $2.1 billion to $4 billion. Roblox Videos: As of 2018, Roblox had earned around $7.2 billion in revenue that year. Roblox Corporation, is a privately held entertainment and educational company headquartered in San Mateo, California, with offices in Toronto, Ottawa, and London. As of December 31, 2008, Roblox did not have employees beyond its founders. Roblox generated revenue of $75 million in 2009, and has been on an upward trajectory since. The company was founded on December 22, 2004, by David Baszucki and Erik Cassel, and is known for its Roblox game platform, which lets users create games using a drag-and-drop programming language, or using in-game blocks. The platform has been developed using the Roblox toolkit, and is based on open source software. Users create a game by typing commands or dragging game-specific blocks to their side of the screen. In November 2018, Roblox had around 17 million monthly active users, of which more than 1.5 million were children between the ages of 6 and 18, and another 350
